

And So It Is, Amen

So I said to God

“This sucks! I gotta get outta here! and fast!”

and God said

my beloved, rest awhile breathe in the beauty that is me and is you the world is in a frantic place and at a frantic pace I ask that you slow down and breathe

Love is the answer, no matter the question

It is time, dear one, for you to be midwife to a new version, a new reality, a new world *the hours and days, weeks and months, the years you have spent in striving were for what?

Nothing! No thing!*

Instead, I offer you a different path a different way, a different version of what could be you are my teacher, you are chosen as all who answer my call are chosen

Fear not, dear one rather, rest, rely on me devote your days to the healing of the world instead of the propagation of that which will not last as I believe and love you you must believe in and love your siblings

Beloved, accept my gift accept my request

Choose only love, for that is what you are

With deep reverence
I replied, "and so it is, amen"
